CHAPARRAL PRINCE went the right way after a wind operation when runner-up over C&D over the Christmas period and he looks open to further improvement in this sphere. Flaminger finished second on his sole outing in a French NH Flat race and is an interesting recruit to a stable that does well with juveniles, while Alan King inmates Tiffin Top and Running Cloud are both capable of better than they showed on their hurdling debuts.

LOMACHENKO benefited greatly from wind surgery as he got off the mark at the second time of asking over timber at Leicester over an extended 2m4f. The manner in which he went away from the opposition suggested the rise to 3m1f could see him take another step forward. Larkbarrow Lad's Ascot second just before Christmas gives him solid credentials, with the extra half-mile likely to play to his strengths, while Bailarico can prove better than his Leicester third having received a penalty for a walkover at the same track the time before.

MERCIAN PRINCE won this 12 months ago off a 5lb lower mark and shaped at Ludlow over an inadequate trip last month as though he would benefit from the outing. The eight-year-old followed up his success in this contest with a Wetherby victory off 2lb higher than today's figure, and this may be the time to catch him. Amour de Nuit has been in good form recently but has a career-high rating to contend with, while Casse Tete looks best of the remainder.

An intriguing clash between two extremely reliable individuals in Charbel, winner of the Peterborough Chase last month, and TOP NOTCH. The former arguably produced a career-best at Huntingdon but preference is still for Nicky Henderson's inmate because he shaped really well on his return to action when third in the Long Walk Hurdle, and the drop in trip on a track that should play to his strengths can see him back to winning ways. Black Corton was unsuited by conditions in the Ladbrokes Trophy and this looks a fact-finding mission with regards to the rest of his campaign.

GLEN ROCCO was unlucky to bump into a fairly handicapped horse when second in a competitive affair here on Boxing Day, and can defy a 3lb rise to score for Nick Gifford. The step up in trip should suit the eight-year-old, and a handicap at the Cheltenham Festival could be considered if he wins or performs well in this contest given his overall profile. Barney Dwan may improve for the application of cheekpieces, while the consistent Ballykan is also noted.
 1|JOSSÉS HILL|148 - 2|BARNEY DWAN|143 - 6|BALLY LONGFORD|131

ERICK LE ROUGE has continued to improve through the handicap ranks this season having benefited from a step up in trip. He won over C&D on Boxing Day when just doing enough in front and a 5lb rise doesn't look enough to halt this progressive individual. Kloud Gate arrives in search of a hat-trick having won as he has pleased in two starts over timber last month and a step up in class shouldn't prevent another bold bid, while others to consider include Doux Pretender, who has the scope to improve his handicap mark back in trip, and the four-timer seeking Cotswold Way.

Stamina just found Speed Company out when he travelled well before settling for third at Doncaster, while Eddiemaurice did it well over course and distance recently but a 6lb rise will make life tougher. Oakley remains capable of much better and he confirmed his promise with a win at Ludlow, but it might be worth chancing class-dropper JOHN CONSTABLE at the likely prices. The ground can't be fast enough for Evan Williams' charge, who is now 11lb below his last winning mark.
